STANLEYS ARE TO MAKE GRAND TOUR THIS SUMMER AND ARE BUSY

Mrs. W. P. Stanley and her daughters, Jean and Louise, are all ready for a wonderful summer abroad. They go in a party of twelve with Prof. George Davis, head of the classical high school of Cincinnati, conducting. Mrs. Davis, who is a sister of our own Miss Isabella Thompson, is to be one of the party also.

They leave for Montreal on June 21 where they sail on the S. S. Aurania of the Cunard line. The steamer makes port at Plymouth, England and the party then spends two weeks in England and North Wales. London will be their headquarters in England from which they visit many points of interest including the English lake region, Chester, Oxford, Shakespeare country, and in Leicester where Mrs. Stanley has two aunts, an uncle and cousins.

Their first city on the continent is Brussels, then The Hague, Leyden, Amsterdam, then to Germany with visits in Cologne, taking the steamer down the Rhine with stops at Wiesbaden, Heidelberg, thence by motor to Nuremberg, Munich, Innsbruck to Bolzano and through Austrian Tyrol and the Dolomites which covers about a week's motor journey to Venice for two days.

They have three days at Florence, Rome five days, Naples three days. In Switzerland they spend a week by steamer on the lakes, visiting Interlaken, with motor rides in the Alpine country and we suggest that they climb the Jungfrau.

Then the party turns northward through France by way of Bale to Paris for the last eight days of the summer traveling. They sail for New York from Havre on the Cunard S. S. Carmania, reaching this country on September first.

From all the cities visited they make several side trips to the chief points of interest. All overland travel is by motor. For their travels the Stanleys are busily reading and studying that they may make the most of the summer.

NEW BUILDING OF THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF GREENFIELD

And now the First National Bank of Greenfield is to have a new home. The present structure is to be razed and a new building to rise on combined sites of present bank and the Fiske and Strecker block. Herewith is an illustration of the new bank building which George H. Reed & Co. Inc., are erecting. In order to permit this work to be started at once the bank is now moving into temporary quarters in the Garden Theatre building. The present building dates back to early in the last century and has been remodeled and added to from time to time but has become inadequate to the growing business of the bank.

The new structure has been designed by Dennison and Hiron of New York City. The main facade of the building will be of Swenson pink granite quarried at Concord, N. H., with base and trim around windows and main entrance of Rockport sea-green granite. The three large window openings in the front will contain ornamental iron frames and will be glazed with plate glass, while before the main entrance to the banking room will stand ornamental iron gates of special hand wrought material. At the top of the building, over the main entrance will be placed a bronze clock, six feet in diameter with bronze hands and an illuminated glass dial.

Entrance to the building will be gained through a spacious vestibule with marble floor and walls.

The banking counter will be of the modern low type with no top screen thus bringing the public into more direct contact with the bank organization. Across the rear of the banking room will be placed the savings department, entirely independent of the other departments of the institution.

The safe deposit room will be equipped with a large and spacious vault, lined throughout with polished steel. The walls of the vault will be 24 inches in thickness, reinforced with steelcrete weighing 55 pounds to the square foot. The floors and roof will be of the same construction. The vault door will be of solid steel construction, containing torch-resisting and chrome steel, insuring safety against every known method of attack. The vault will be equipped throughout with electric protection and throughout the bank will be located stations to operate the alarm in case of daylight raid.

The contract for the electric wiring and fixtures has been awarded to the Street Electric Store, Inc., the heating and plumbing to George Corsiglia and the painting to Chevalier Bros. It will be the policy of the contractors to use local labor to the fullest extent possible.

DR. ELLIOTT BROWN ACCEPTS CALL TO HOLYOKE CHURCH

Dr. Elliott W. Brown read a letter in the pulpit of the First Congregational church of Holyoke accepting the call to that church where he has been supplying for several months. ## VON LUCKNER TO SPEAK AT BRATTLEBORO

Is Gallant German Sailor Who Fought Us Clean and Well

When Count von Luckner landed in New York, one of his first acts was to give back the American flag that for years had been carried on "The Seeadler." He was recently asked by the American Legion of New York city, to review, with Senator Copeland, the German troops of New York that had served Germany in the late war. The gathering of former army men who ten years ago were fighting each other, was one of the most impressive events of the year.

Count von Luckner is not here as a war hero, but rather as a "plain sailor"—to use his own words. He reflects the character of an ambassador of understanding and human sympathy among nations lately ranged against each other.

The Count is to appear at the Auditorium in Brattleboro on the evening of Tuesday, April 16th at 8.15 o'clock to tell of his most amazing exploits.

TEACHERS COUNCIL HAD INSTRUCTIVE LECTURE BY MISS H. M. HIGGINS

Harriet M. Higgins, supervisor of art in the Springfield Public schools, also an instructor of religious education at the Northfield Summer Conference school, gave a very interesting and instructive lecture before the Teachers' Council of the Trinitarian church last Monday evening.

The subject was methods of conducting a Sunday school through an activity program in order to bring out the interest of the child by finding what he or she likes to do and what individual is best fitted to do.

The old time method of plain doctrine to the modern child no longer applies when the child of today finds he or she is doing something with a definite project in view and they find a certain degree of responsibility rests upon them toward that project their interest is at once aroused and the teacher is able to gain her objective through the constructive and activity program.

When the mind of the child or the adult is interested there is progress, otherwise there is no progress and no objective can be gained. Only by giving the very best to our children can we hope to attain the very best in them.

By striving to create in them the attitude of self reliance and co-operation we can instill into their minds the word of God which is going to remain permanently and leave a lasting impression throughout life.

LEGIONAIRES SURVEY ON CLEAN UP CAMPAIGN EMBRACES ALL FOUR SECTIONS OF TOWN

The legionaires of Haven H. Spencer post have made an excellent preliminary survey for the Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up campaign in Northfield. They have rated 459 places in all: Class A, 14; Class B, 296; Class C, 149. Subdivided these are: Northfield, Class A, 5; Class B, 113; Class C, 22. East Northfield, Class A, 6; Class B, 129; Class C, 29. West Northfield, Class A, 1; Class B, 20; Class C, 38. Northfield Farms, Class A, 2; Class B, 34; Class C, 60.

The ratings for sections are: Northfield, 140; East Northfield, 164; West Northfield, 59; Northfield Farms, 96; grand total for the town of Northfield, 459.

At the end of the campaign, April 30th, it is planned to have the same legionaires who made the preliminary survey go over the same ground and make their comparisons. With the new ratings it should be possible to show several interesting comparisons and to tell just how much the appearance of the houses, streets and sections have improved, if at all. Of course it must be admitted at once that in the ordinary course of events the usual spring clean-up would make a distinct general improvement but our campaign accentuates this and, what is still more important, urges on those laggards who might otherwise neglect the early clean-up of their places and so spoil the general appearance of the whole neighborhood.

GARDEN THEATRE HAS "LUCKY BOY" FOR A SPECIAL ATTRACTION

His primers the theatre programs his father's tiny East Side theatre, George Jessel was twelve years old when he finally endured a public school and not much older when the family fortunes ended his formal schooling summarily. The buoyant star of "Lucky Boy", the Tiffany-Stahl (Tiffany Tone) production now showing at the Garden Theatre, cheerfully admits that he was educated in the college of hard knocks.

The story of "Lucky Boy" is an original Viola Brothers Shore and was cut to Jessel's exact measurements. In fact, much of it finds a parallel in the career of the star. The cast is a large one, presenting Margaret Quimby in the role of the sweetheart, Rosa Rosanova and William K. Strauss as the hero's parents, and Gwen Lee, Richard Tucker, Gayne Whitman and Mary Doran in other important roles.

Norman Taurag and Charles C. Wilson directed "Lucky Boy" and George Jessel authored the dialogue and titles. All songs and dialogue were produced under the supervision of Rudolph Flothow. The theme song, "My Mother's Eyes", was composed especially for the picture by L. Wolfe Gilbert and Abel Baer, and other songs in the picture are by Lewis Young and Axt. Harry Jackson and Frank Zukor manned the camera and the ROA Photophone recorded all sound.

The beauty of flowers—the Message of Affection.

FLORIST

Flowers of all kinds are a natural part and have a place in the Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up campaign. Not only should every home have living flowers in the garden, in window-boxes and indoors, but the gift of flowers to friends and on anniversary occasions is a charming idea. They always seem to speak the language of brightness and hope and joy. Nature is indeed the pioneer of the Clean Up and Paint Up plan. Send flowers and spread the doctrine.

NO TOWN WAS EVER BUILT UP BY KNOCKERS

One day, far out at sea, a ship sprung a leak and the situation became alarming. Passengers were panic stricken and lifeboats and life preservers were gotten into readiness. One of the passengers in a state of great excitement rushed up to his friend and said, "Ikey, Ikey, the ship is sinking." The friend absorbed in thought, paid little attention to his companion and the warning was repeated several times with increasing vigor and vehemence. Finally the friend said, with great impatience, "Well, what of it, it isn't our ship!"

There are people like that in every community. No matter how greatly the community needs their help and assistance they refuse or neglect to give it. They pass the responsibility to somebody else. They do not have the time or they do not like the way the thing is being done or they are not interested and so on and so forth. It isn't their ship or their town. Let it sink. Fortunately, in Northfield as well as in the other towns and communities in this section this class are in the minority. The men and women who are willing to give of their time and their thought and their money are in the majority. If it were not so we should never have made the progress that has been ours.

No town was ever built by knockers and unconcerned ones who refuse to support just as far as they possibly can, the projects designed for the good of the community. Some of us, in some cases can do a great deal and we should gladly do it all: in other cases, perhaps, we can only see our way towards doing a very little, but let us do that little cheerily anyhow and God will take care of the rest. For He is in His Heaven and all is well with the world when men and women are joyful in the wonderful adventure of living and know that they know that even the present good times are going to be better and better as day succeeds day.

Let us here in Northfield, as in other towns all over our broad land, continue to be glad workers and happy boosters, filled with zeal and community loyalty and the vision of the common good, towards making our town bigger and better and more prosperous. . . . IT CAN BE DONE! Cheerio.

"KEEPING EVERLASTINGLY AT IT BRINGS SUCCESS"

N. W. Ayer & Son, the largest advertising agency in this country, has for its motto, "Keeping everlastingly at it brings success" and they not only have it for a motto but utilize it and advertise their own business regularly, steadily and persistently. And that is the reason why they are now admittedly the largest advertising agency in this country and, possibly, in the whole world so far as we know. . . . We have known merchants to run an advertisement or two and because results were not immediately obtained they concluded that advertising did them no good.

Advertising to be effective must be continuous. You can't drive a nail with one blow of the hammer. You can't cure a sick man with one dose of medicine. You can't pull a boat up stream with one stroke of the oars. In every line of activity that must overcome resistance results are only achieved by continued, repeated efforts. NO MERCHANT SHOULD PERMIT A SINGLE ISSUE OF A WEEKLY PAPER TO GO OUT FROM HIS TOWN WITHOUT SOME KIND OF AN ADVERTISEMENT FROM HIS STORE. He should drive home the fact throughout his territory that he sells good merchandise and that his store is a good place to trade. And if he does what he says he does in his advertising, he will get the business.

INTERESTING ACCOUNT OF IMPRESSIVE SCENE

Cocoonat Grove, Fla., Box 456,

April 1, 1929

Dear Editor:

We still are eager for Monday to come as that day always brings the Press and the home news to us. I have waited all winter for something interesting to write about and not until yesterday did I find anything that seemed really worth while.

Yesterday we attended what was probably the greatest Easter service in point of numbers in the world, when 50,000 people gathered on the beach to celebrate the Resurrection of Our Lord.

It was in glorious moonlight that we started at 4.30 in the morning to drive the twelve miles.

At first we seemed the only one abroad but as we drew nearer to our destination we were joined by one car after another, until, by the time we reached the Causeway which crosses Biscayne Bay from Miami to the Beach we were one of a long procession and when we finally reached our goal we found so many ahead of us that our car was parked a half mile or more away from the spot where the services were to be held.

There was no honking of horns, no loud talking, but people came in groups and quietly seated themselves on the sand in front of the stand erected at the water's edge for the speakers and the choir.

For an hour or more after our arrival they kept coming. The half-moon was directly overhead. Once more as in the long ago, it was "very early in the morning." As we sat waiting with the rest, we could not but think of that "great multitude" led by our Saviour on the shore of Galilee and it seemed as if He were in our midst ready to feed the hungry souls of this great multitude one, third of the population of our beautiful city.

A little cloud clung to the horizon, but gradually the light grew stronger, and a faint rosy glow above the cloud increased more until the sunrise was almost upon us.

With no word being said, as with a single impulse the great throng rose to its feet just as the bugle sounded the call to worship, and then as the sun burst up in all its glory from behind the cloud, the clear notes of a cornet sounded over the stillness "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today! Alleluia!"

Then we sang "My Faith Looks Up to Thee." The amplifiers magnified

The Budding Contractor

the sound and it seemed as if it must be heard for miles.

Followed an anthem by the choir of 60 voices "Unfold Ye Portals"; a prayer and a short sermon and the meeting closed with all singing the grand old hymn "In the Cross of Christ I Glory."

Thousands of people went quietly back to their homes, carrying in their hearts the memory of this beautiful experience, and they went, not to spend the remainder of the day in worldly pleasures, for every church in the city was full to overflowing at the morning service, and one church held two sessions, one at 9 a. m. and one at 11 and the Bible class in the Olympia Theatre had the largest attendance in its history, over 2000 men.

The tourist season is about over, but the crowd at the Sunrise Service was greater than the crowd at the prize-fight a few weeks ago, and it seems proof that Miami, Fla., in spite of her reputation, is a God-fearing and a God-loving community. With best wishes from us both to all our Northfield friends whom we hope to see before many weeks. I am

Very truly yours,
Clara S. Thompson.

Why Animals Become Independent Early

The reason why humans come independent so much more slowly than animals is because animals are guided by instinct, while humans depend on their ability to learn. AVIATION MAY SOON BE
NEW ENGLAND'S MOST IMPORTANT INDUSTRY

New England's aviation development continues apace. A new corporation, the activities of which will undoubtedly stimulate the growth of aviation in New Hampshire, has been formed at Concord, to be known as the New Hampshire Aviation and Marine Co., a $50,000 corporation. It will have its base at the Concord airport. The company will sell airplanes and operate planes from bases at The Weirs and Wolfeboro, on Lake Winnepesaukee, and at Lake Winnisquam, as well as from other established airports in New Hampshire. It will also sell and operate motor boats. Plans for opening a flying school at the Concord airport are also projected.

Still another new aviation company is the Aviation Securities Corporation of New England, to finance the development of aviation projects, especially those originating in New England by a group of New England men, not only will finance the development of deserving aviation projects, but also will assist established aviation companies.

Recent public announcement has been made of plans to launch the National Aero Corporation, to produce a small airplane motor. The company plans to operate the plant at Atlantic.

Another mark of aviation progress in New England is the announcement of an aircraft manufacturing program and eventual freight and passenger service throughout New England, by the New England Air Transport Co., a new concern in Hillsboro, R. I. This company has secured a factory and within a month expects to turn out a plane a week. The company will begin by making biplanes, specializing in light sport planes and four passenger cabin models. ## Cranberries All the Year

CRANBERRIES are not simply an autumn food which can be bought only at Thanksgiving time. To be sure, fresh cranberries are limited in point of time, but did you know that cranberries are commercially canned as jelly or sauce, so you can have them any time of the year? Cranberry jelly, just as it comes from the can, is a real conserve ready to use with game or fowl. Cranberries in either of these forms save the housewife from all the drudgery of picking over and washing them, boiling them, and, for the jelly, rubbing them through a sieve.

Tart, but Sweet

The cranberry is one of the few fruits which has a fresh, delicious flavor and yet has a suggestion of tartness about it which makes it welcome in desserts and salads which might otherwise be too sweet. Cranberry ice, molded cranberry salad, and many other cranberry dishes may be made. Here is the way to make:

Cranberry Jelly Salad: Heat one can of cranberry jelly with one-half cup orange juice and two tablespoons lemon juice. Soak four teaspoons of gelatin in two tablespoons cold water and then dissolve in the hot, melted cranberry. Strain and cool. Add one-fourth cup diced celery and one-fourth cup chopped nuts when beginning to stiffen. Pour into molds wet with cold water, and chill. Turn onto lettuce leaves, and serve with celery hearts stuffed with cream cheese.

CENTRAL CHIMNEY
HELPS COMFORT,
CUTS FIRE HAZARD

In cold days it was a custom to build the chimney in the center of the home so that it would give off radiant heat to all the rooms surrounding it. The Holland Institute of Thermology of Holland, Mich., states that this still is good practice for the same reason, but there are more important reasons why the chimney should be enclosed rather than built as part of an outside wall.

All building materials expand, and contract more or less when subjected to changes of temperature. Often a chimney that is part of an outside wall is cracked by the different expansion and contraction caused by the cold outdoors air on one side of it and the hot flue gases on the inside. These defects increase danger of fire, and interfere with the draft so that the heating plant eats up an excessive amount of fuel and, even then, fails to keep the home comfortable.

Many householders planning to build new homes or remodel those they now occupy assume it is necessary to put expensive liners inside the chimneys.

If these flue liners are made of genuine fireclay instead of ordinary clay and if they are installed so that the joints remain absolutely tight and perfectly smooth, they may be worth while.

But investigation of thousands of chimney complaints has proved that too often the liners are of ordinary clay so that the intense heat of the flue gases breaks them more readily than it could break plain bricks, or they are mortared together so poorly that their joints develop air pockets or points of friction.

Building experts agree that brick is the best material for chimneys. Where there are more flues than one in the chimney, the best practice is to separate them with a full continuous course of bricks set edgewise.

"When you make two one, what do you get?" the parson was asked.

"Usually five, but sometimes ten, and now and then just one," he replied.

Millers Falls

Surveyors for the highway department were busy the past week making a survey on the streets in the vicinity of the White bridge. Much speculation is rife as to the probable outcome of the survey. The same procedure has been followed the past two years and is evidently giving the engineers some trouble in trying to relocate a road through the town.

The cast of characters for the Young Peoples Forum play, "The Dead of Night," which is to be presented the latter part of April has been announced and rehearsals are being conducted regularly.

The honor roll of Turners Falls high school for the past month has the names of the following Millers Falls children: Seniors, four subjects, Mary Kostrezevski; three subjects, Frank Konseovich; juniors, three subjects, Alice Parsons; sophomores, four subjects, Milford Baker Elizabeth Dykes, Elsie Mosseau, three subjects, Edith Parsons.

The local baseball had a workout at Highland Park the other day. Several new performers reported to Manager Bonie and some of them look as though they would fit very nicely into the team as planned. Manager Bonie has already signed up six players who have seen service in the Franglin-Hampshire league and is constantly working to build up a team what will be a fighting one.

The Greenwood Tea Room was opened the past week by the proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. Perley Deane. Many improvements have been made during the past year and Mr. and Mrs. Deane are looking forward to a successful season. Miss Anna Langley of Little Falls, N. Y., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Walter Day at her home on Bangs avenue. Malcolm Alber has resumed his studies at Worcester Tech, after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Alber. H. C. Corbett, local druggist, and Joseph Trudel of Turners Falls attended the meeting of the Western Massachusetts druggists in Springfield, the past week.

ANNUAL MEETING OF BOARD OF TRADE AND ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The annual meeting of the Millers Falls Board of Trade was held last Thursday evening in the Legion hall in the Ross building. The following officers were elected: Abram Rosberry was re-elected president; vice-president, E. M. Partridge; secretary and treasurer, F. L. Pomeroy; directors, John A. Taggart and W. M. Stebbins. The president, Mr. Rosberry read the following report:

The Millers Falls Board of Trade as you all know is just in its infancy and the results of the first year's activities have been quite satisfactory, the second and third should be more so. The Board of Managers have met frequently and many subjects if importance have been discussed, the most important one being that of promoting home building in Millers Falls and we can feel proud of the interest we have created in this direction.

The members have responded splendidly whenever called upon for committee or other service.

The future responsibilities of the Millers Falls Board of Trade are great, there is a tremendous amount of work to be done and we can demonstrate our ability to do it.

We are affiliated with the Western Mass. Chamber of Commerce, which was organized six years ago for the purpose of protecting the western part of the state and any time we need their assistance we are in a position to call on them.

In conclusion, I want to say, in all of its activities the Millers Falls Board of Trade has endeavored to keep in mind the well known fact that it is the spirit of the people that builds great communities and feels it has been successful, in its brief period of existence, in furthering the faith of the people of Millers Falls in its greater growth, convenience and prosperity.

Turners Falls

The Order of Eastern Star will hold a special meeting April 29, with an appropriate program, to commemorate their seventh anniversary.

Teachers and pupils of the new Junior high school have been working for the past two months on an operetta, "The Royal Playmate," which they will present in the Opera House Friday evening, April 26. Folk and solo dances are also being prepared, to be presented during the acts. The affair is being directed by Stewart MacKirdy, music supervisor in the public schools.

Work is started on remodeling one of the tenements in the Cutlery Block in Third street, which will be made over into a store for the Gee Lee Laundry. The new store will be next to the one now occupied by the Neaut Barber Shop. The little wooden building on the opposite side of the street, which has been used as a laundry for many years and which is one of the landmarks of the town, will soon be torn down and modern block erected. David Solomon is the owner of the wooden building. The erection of the new building will make a radical change in the appearance of this street.

Midnight Feasts

It wouldn't do openly to encourage your son or daughter in boarding school to have a midnight feast, entirely against the rules—but they do love a box of food from home. And you can say to yourself (even if you don't believe it) that "my daughter wouldn't break any school rules."

Abetting Crime

Naturally, there will be some one of her favorite dishes that you will plan to make first of all. Maybe it is a meat pie, if the school is not far away. Maybe it is a special kind of cookie, or maybe it is a plum pudding, or some doughnuts. Whatever it is, make room for it first, and then fill up the cracks and crannies with tinned foods which will not crack under rough handling and which will delight the heart of your child. Be sure to include a can-opener, too. And if you want to add a particularly nice touch, you might put in a card with suggestions as to how to use the foods.

Of course sardines are the first canned foods to go in; a can of sardines put up in oil, one in mustard sauce and one in tomato sauce. Next in line come several cans of deviled ham or tongue, or both. Peanut butter, which comes in cans, should be included. And for a touch of sweetness, why not use a can of coconut, that delicious nut which comes to us shredded and sweet? A package of cream cheese and a small can of crushed pineapple convey a suggestion for another sandwich, and of course a can of shelled nuts which will keep fresh indefinitely will be hailed with—hot shouts, but cautious whispers—of delight.

Well, it may not be just the thing to encourage and abet crime, but can any right-minded parent, looking back on her own school-days bear to defraud her chick of the thrills and alarms which go with such a midnight escapade? I thought not.

Ruth Vassar, and Julia Simkus.

In the Freshman class honors were divided between Jean Porter and Dorothy Reihan, for first place. Students who won four subjects honors were Margaret Miller, Lenore Murphy, Dorothy Trum, Edwin Vassar, Frederick Wishart, Sylvia Shuman, Sarah Green span, George Richason. In three subjects honor students were Margaret Moody, Charles Hazelton, Paul Richtotte Helen Fuller.

But Mother has been in the house all day. She'd like to get out, just for the change.

Appetizing Apple Sauce

AND a case of apple sauce. I think that will be all for today." So Mrs. Perkins hung up the receiver, her grocery order completed. Then she turned to the children who were watching her.

"Now," she said, "when the delivery boy comes you can have some bread and butter and apple sauce, and I'll make you an apple sauce pie. Or maybe you'd rather have apple snow? Or an apple sauce cake?"

There was a moment of silence, the children thinking deeply. Then Betty thought of the solution, and her face lighted up:

"Let's have them all!"
Of course, Mrs. Perkins rebelled at that suggestion, but she did manage to have all of them soon, for apple sauce was a favorite with her family—as witness her buying it by the case. (Of course it is cheaper by the case, too). And the minerals and vitamins contained in the sauce make it a most healthy dish.

Mrs. Perkins' Recipes

When Mrs. Perkins makes apple snow, she drains three-fourths cup of apple sauce, and beats three egg whites on a platter with a wire whisk until stiff. She adds the apple pulp gradually and continues to beat until it is well mixed and fluffy. Then she piles it lightly in a glass dish, chills it and serves it with the syrup which she had drained off.

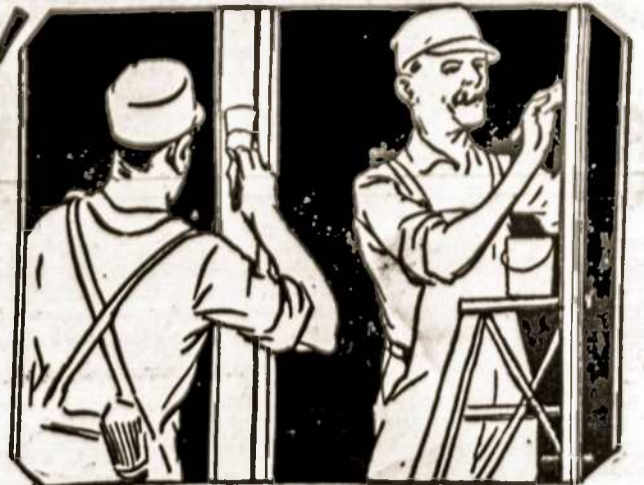

For a plain apple sauce pie, Mrs. Perkins combines the contents of a number 2 can of apple sauce, and one teaspoon of lemon juice. She pours it into a pie-tin lined with pastry, dots liberally with butter and sprinkles with nutmeg. Then she puts the top crust on and bakes in a hot oven (450°) for ten minutes and then lowers the heat to 350° for the rest of the baking, about twenty minutes.

Then there are the refinements of clocks, vases, works of real art. They belong in the modern home conducted in the modern, progressive manner. They are signs of quiet prosperity and of discriminating taste. Therefore they play their vital part in the present campaign.

Cheer-up with Radio

If you haven't a radio as yet, you will come to it. That is the surest thing in the world. Why deny yourself evenings of fascinating entertainment, as you pluck from the air a jazz orchestra in a distant restaurant, a Presidential speech, the details of a spirited prize fight, the latest sentimental song, or an entire opera as given on a great stage.

Yes, radio must come into your life. Or perhaps you have an outmoded set which is giving you trouble.

Here again science has given us the one-dial set—freedom from interference, and the electric light socket attachment, which dispenses with the bothersome storage battery.

We have the latest in radios, and an installation will immediately prove that our recommendations are altogether trustworthy.

Burn Rubbish
and prevent dangerous fires

Way stuff papers, rags, broken boxes and other inflammable things in the attic, in the cellar, alongside the house, or in the back yard as so many of us persist in doing?

These loose rubbish deposits are fire traps, whether we are willing to concede as much or not. Fire statistics show that they are all of that.

In a safe place in the back yard keep one of the simple, modern catch-alls of steel, into which trash can be placed and burned with safety. Bits of flaming paper cannot escape and there are few, if any, sparks. The cost of one of these devices is surely less than the cost of a new house!

WHAT IS CALLED CONVERSATION

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

Mrs. Allen had been very unhappy at Bath when she and her husband
with their friend,

Catherine More-
land, as guest went down for a few weeks' holiday.
She had been very unhappy, indeed, I say until she met Mrs. Thorpe, an old schoolmate of hers whom she had
not seen for years.
Now she had someone to talk to, and
at once the two old friends indulged in what they called conversation in which Miss Austin tells us "there was scarcely any exchange of opinion and not often any resemblance of subject, for Mrs.

Thorpe talked chiefly of her children and Mrs. Allen of her gown." Neither one expected or cared for any particular response from the other. It was quite sufficient that there was a listener who would not attempt to stem the flow of words.

What is called conversation is often
only two people in juxtaposition each of whom has an opportunity to give a monologue upon his own particular and favorite topic, whatever that may be.

When Mrs. Faris has been out of town for a time and is back in her own house all she wants is a chance to tell about her trip. Let her get started and you can go about your business quietly and without your saying a word she will run on for an hour giving every detail of what she said and what they saw and what everyone did and thought. She leaps from one topic to another with the agility of a mountain goat and would be quite surprised if anyone should indicate that the vocal exercise in which she is indulging is not conversation.

Gregory has opinions—very definite and settled opinions which he is eager and glad to expound to anyone whose ear he can get for a few minutes. He drops into a group of men or he is invited to a dinner party, and immediately he takes matters into his own hands and begins what he would term a conversation with his friends. In point of fact it is an exposition, it is a discourse, it is an oration, it is a play of words in which Gregory takes all the parts. If you will listen to Gregory for a few minutes he will tell you exactly how the difficulties in which the farmer now finds himself can be amicably settled. He knows who is going to be the next President of the United States and why, and he has a solution of the problem of the unemployed which, if people would only listen to him,
would put an end to strikes, labor riots, and general discontent. While Gregory is talking he expects rapt and undivided attention. He doesn't like being interrupted or questioned.

First Pro—"It's strange how many college students are now committing suicide. They all seem to shoot themselves in the chest."

Second Pro—"That's all that's necessary. They're all dead from the neck up."

Mistress—Have you given the gold
fish fresh water?
Maid—No ma'am, they ain't finished
the water I gave them yesterday.

while in conversation in which he calls conversation. Every community, every organization, every group of a half dozen gathered together has its monologue artist like Gregory who labors under the delusion that when he is monopolizing the talk he is engaging in conversation.

BIGGEST SEASON EVER IS ANNOUNCED FOR THE STATE FAIRS

Plans for the coming season of agricultural fairs in Massachusetts will be outlined at the spring meeting of the State Fairs association to be held in Worcester April 17. At that time representatives of about thirty fairs
in the state will gather to talk over ways and means of making their fairs
more attractive, entertaining and educational, in preparation for the biggest and busiest season they have ever held. According to the secretary of the association, A. W. Lombard, there has not been a time in years when the managements of the various fairs were looking forward to such progressive plans as this year.

Among the progressive activities
which the association is pushing this year is keeping the fairs of the member associations free from objectionable attractions. There are many attractions offered every year which sound well in advance but prove unworthy of the high standards the fairs are setting. The various members of the Fairs association have reported their experiences with such attractions
for several years back and the result is a steadily decreasing number of undesirable attractions being booked.
The same system applies to the concessions which the various fair managements allow on the grounds each year.

One of the principal topics to be discussed is the trend of standardization and the extent to which it can be applied to fairs. This will be discussed by Milton Danziger of the Eastern States Exposition. Prof. C. J.
Fawcett of the Mass. Agricultural college will report on the dynamometer
schedule for pulling contests this fall and L. B. Boston of the State Department of Agriculture will discuss the rules and regulations under which state prize money may be awarded at the fairs.

One of the interesting new features of the association plans is the prize
essay contest for high school students.
This was started last year and will be enlarged and extended this year. The plan will be explained by Secretary Lombard. The list of approved judges, given out by the association as a guide to its members, will be presented by Earle S. Carpenter of the Mass.
Agricultural college.

The meeting will have more or less of a New England character as the larger fairs in all the other New England states have been invited to send representatives. The managements of fairs in other states have shown an increasing interest in the Massachusetts association and are sharing in the work of getting rid of undesirable attractions and concessions.

Basement Planning Is Now an Important Part of Home Building

THE modern American builder is finding it necessary to devote
as much time and care to the planning of the basement as he gives to any other part of the house, because automatic oil heat has placed the cellar on the same social plane
with the dining room, the living room, or the kitchen.

No longer can the cellar be snubbed as a place associated with dirt, coal bins, ash heaps, old tools and discarded furniture. The modern cellar is vouching its right to share its comforts and responsibilities with the rest of the house.
"What are you doing with your cellar?" is fast becoming an adage among owners of modern homes.
And those engaged in the business of building homes must consider the cellar if they are to meet the requirements of the modern prospective home owner.

In homes equipped with automatic oil heat, cellars are being beautified, rejuvenated—made useful. The coal bin, the ash pile and all the other disagreeable things about cellars are as passé as last winter's weather forecasts.

Where once existed dirt and litter, many a hostess whose name appears in the social register is entertaining now. Its use as a card room, a den, a billiard room, a gymnasium, a place for dancing,

a sewing room, a playroom for the children or a hundred and one other purposes has followed in the footsteps of modern automatic heat.
The modern home is judged by its cellar rather than its kitchen—because kitchen modernization has long since been considered a necessity instead of a vogue. Automatic oil heat has transformed the cellar from a necessary evil to a place of added valuation to the modern home.

This once gloomy cavern has finally been stirred from the apathy of years. It has earned its right to demand not only modern labor-saving devices, but the comfort of cheerful surroundings. It must have the sunlight and color so necessary to its new position as an exponent of modern housekeeping and comfort. More windows, more lighting fixtures, an application of paint to the once grimy walls and ceiling are only a few of the things
the modern builder must consider.

The modern cellar no longer is a place that one must visit upon arising from slumber on a winter's morning, or that one must work and struggle in late at night. Automatic heat has brought about this change.

Gabs and Jabs

"It says here a psychologist declares there is no pain," remarked Mr. Grouch.
"Huh. He ought to try living with you for awhile," snapped the Missus.

"He was a man who indeed suffered much," says a country paper, in a short obituary notice, "he had been a subscriber to this paper since its first number."

BOY SCOUTS HANDBOOK NEXT BEST SELLER TO THE BIBLE

When a book has a circulation of more than 3,000,000 copies and has been read by more than 5,000,000 persons, there must be something in it. That is the record made by the Handbook for Boys of the Boy Scouts of America, the most widely read book for boys in the world and reputed to have an annual circulation in excess of every American book excepting the world circulation of the Bible.

The esteem with which the Boy Scout Movement is held in this country and abroad is in a great measure due to what boys practice from the lessons learned in the Handbook for Boys. In it are recorded the ideals and rules of the Scout Movement. To a boy reader it is a book of romanticism, inspiration and information. The book was produced after long study to determine what would most help boys to help themselves. Leading educators, over a period of many years, considered the problem and co-operated in the compilation of a book which would at once interest and instruct boys, and at the same time direct their activities along lines in keeping with the Boy Scout program of character building and citizenship training.

From Japan, from Alaska, from the Philippines, orders have come for the Handbook for Boys. Down on the continent of Antarctica, where Commander Byrd's expedition is writing history, the knowledge contained in the Handbook for Boys is standing Paul Siple, the Boy Scout member of the Byrd crew, in good stead. It was the lessons he learned from scouting as revealed in the Handbook for Boys that gave this husky American lad the background which enabled Commander Byrd to select him as one of the members of his crew. He is an outstanding member, Commander Byrd has reported by radio.

If you want a book that will fill the leisure time of your boy with useful activity and put into his mind ideals that are truly American, get him a copy of the Handbook for Boys. He will likely consider it one of the finest gifts that he has ever received.

BETTER APPLES FOR THE CONSUMER

Better apples for the consumer to buy and farmers to sell is the aim of a 90 per cent clean apple club for New England growers. This club is being sponsored by the fruit specialists of the New England agricultural colleges and, according to W. H. Thies of Amherst, secretary of the New England association, is the second drive of the 5-year program put on by these specialists, the 1928 contest being on top grafting. Their object in this united effort is to bring about an increase in consumption.

At least 300 bushels of one of the "New England Seven" Rhode Island Greening, Gravenstein, Delicious, McIntosh, Northern Spy, Wealthy, or Baldwin, are necessary before an applicant may be considered eligible for this club, and 90 per cent of his fruit must be clean from pest damage.

Color, weather rusting, and size will not be considered in judging the fruit, the cleanliness being based on pest damage only. Information on the life history of troublesome apple pests will be provided to growers, and spray record charts will be kept by the grower to show the season's work. During August, if conditions seem to warrant, a check-up will be made on each grower's crop by some member of the extension service to determine eligibility for membership in the club.

SOCONY PARABASE OIL

When Socony brings out an oil and makes certain claims for that oil, you may be sure that the product measures up to the advertised claims 100%. For that very oil has been tested in our own laboratory which has a staff of 40 trained oil technologists under the supervision of Chief Chemist Dr. J. B. Rath.

At this laboratory, samples of competitive oils are tested just as exhaustively as are Socony oils. Every three months, Dr. Rath submits a report of his findings to the manufacturing department.

In one characteristic report, 76 samples of competitive oils were tested. This shows to what extremes Socony goes to make sure Socony motor oils are the very best on the market.

DR. AND MRS. ASKREN CELEBRATE SILVER WEDDING IN EGYPT

The Egyptian Gazette, a daily newspaper published at Cairo under date of March 18th has this interesting article to Northfield people of one fellow citizen.

The silver anniversary of the wedding of Dr. and Mrs. Askren was celebrated recently in the big hall of the Evangelical church of Fayoum. In acknowledgment of the services rendered by this well-known physician, the hall was crowded. The leading government officials, notables, physicians, and men and women who have been benefited through his activities, attended the ceremony. Thanksgiving song was the first item on the programme. An invocation was offered by the local pastor, Rev. Jabra Hanna.

The speakers referred to various aspects of Dr. Askren's life and work. Dr. Abadir, an well-known physician in Fayoum, spoke of him as a professional man; Rev. Wahby Boulos, of Senoures, presented him as a philanthropist; Hussein Eff. El Hakin, as a member of the Municipality; Powzy Eff. Dary, as a free-mason; H. E. Dr. Rasheed Bey as a member of the First Aid Society.

MISSING MT. HERMON STUDENT WORKING IN CLEVELAND GROCERY

Word comes from Boston that relieved by the news that his son is safe in Cleveland and is earning his own living through work in a grocery store. Robert S. Gardener, functions manager of the Copley-Plaza Hotel and father of Robert S. Gardener, Jr., 16 years old Mt. Hermon student who disappeared last Tuesday has decided to allow the boy to remain in the Ohio city and "make his own way."

Mr. Gardener received a letter from his son in which the boy wrote that he is living at the Cleveland Y. M. C. A. and besides working in the grocery store from 2 to 10 p. m., is attending a prep course at the Y. M. C. A. in the morning. Classes at Mt. Hermon were "getting on his nerves," he told his father and he left the school intending to "hit the road" for Chicago, but after reaching Cleveland, determined to stay there.

Father pleased with his son's letter and his resolve to "go it on his own" for the summer, Mr. Gardener communicated with a friend in Cleveland asking him to look after him if aid was required, but he said he felt confident that no assistance would be needed. The boy wrote that he was making enough money for his board and room and a couple of dollars left over.

FASHIONS

for the SMART WOMAN

VARIED NECKLINES

Lacings as trimming are exceedingly chic in the present mode and here form the decorative theme of a two-piece day frock. For southern wear and for mid-summer the design may omit its sleeves and lower its back to display a fashionable sunburn. The skirt is on a bodice. The frock at the right is very unusual and interesting because of the neckline and jabot arrangement which is charmingly different. The front of the blouse is cut long so that a skirt yoke effect is achieved. A tiny patch pocket, just large enough for a handkerchief is used.

First Model: Pictorial Printed Pattern No. 4732. Sizes 14 to 46, 45 cents.

Second Model: Pictorial Printed Pattern No. 4720. Sizes 14 to 46, 45 cents.

Why do some Women Sing at their Work?

The answer is easy. It isn't because household duties are easy. Because they most certainly are not. But they can be made easier when your kitchen is professionally equipped and supplied with all the many modern conveniences. For example, a kitchen cupboard of the new type is a labor-saving device. Your utensils should be new and of the best. The linoleum should belong to TODAY. A coat of varnish might make yesterday's floor covering almost new and brightly attractive again. We have everything for the modern kitchen.
